Contents of Vol. 164

Part 1

SALVATORE LANZAVECCHIA, PIER LUIGI BELLON and BJÖRN A. AFZELIUS. A strategy for the reconstruction of structures possessing axial symmetry: sectioned axonemes in sperm flagella 1

ZHIFENG SHAO, OTTO BAUMANN and ANDREW P. SOMLYO. Axial resolution of confocal microscopes with parallel-beam detection 13

E. B. JENSEN and F. B. SØRENSEN. A note on stereological estimation of the volume-weighted second moment of particle volume 21

WALLY H. MÜLLER, THEO P. VAN DER KRIFT, GERD KNOLL, ERIK B. SMAAL and ARIE J. VERKLEIJ. A preparation method of specimens of the fungus Penicillium chrysogenum for ultrastructural and immuno-electron microscopical studies 29

JOHN T. JONES and IOLO AP GWYNN. A method for rapid fixation and dehydration of nematode tissue for transmission electron microscopy 43

REINHARD H. DENNIN and AXEL BEYER. Application of scanning electron microscopy (SEM) and microbead techniques to study the localization of p24 and p18 antigens of HIV-1 on the surface of HIV-1-infected H9-lymphocytes 53

B. BARBARA CZABAN and ARTHUR FORER. Visualization of ultraviolet microbeam irradiation sites with uranyl acetate 61

T. A. HALL. Suggestions for the quantitative X-ray microanalysis of thin sections of frozen-dried and embedded biological tissues 67

P. E. FROEHLING. A comparison of some methods for measuring the size distribution of two-dimensionally clustered latex particles in TEM images using mathematical morphology 81

Short Technical Note

CORNELIU DIMITRIU. On the contraction and dilation of the plastic support membranes under electron-beam irradiation in the transmission electron microscope 89

Part 2

M. Diociaiuti, A. Molinari, A. Calcabrini and G. Arancia. Electron energy-loss spectroscopy analysis of adriamycin–plasma membrane interaction 95

A. N. Farley and J. S. Shah. High-pressure scanning electron microscopy of insulating materials: a new approach 107

D. J. Goldstein. Quantitative theory of ideal phase-contrast microscopy, taking object width into account 127

Eisaku Oho, Akinori Ogihara and Koichi Kanaya. A method using an on-line digital computer for the improvement of resolution of backscattered electron images 143

Monty Glass and Tim Dabbs. The experimental effect of detector size on confocal lateral resolution 153

Dietrich Stoyan and Victor Beneš. Anisotropy analysis for particle systems 159

Pavel E. Moroz. Microscopy of cell cultures through thin plastic films 169

Short Technical Note

Laura Riboni and Harol Núñez-Duran. A device to ease grid coating for EM radiography 175

Book Reviews 179

Erratum 184

Part 3

Editorial 185

D. A. Wharton. Freeze-substitution techniques for preparing nematodes for scanning electron microscopy 187

Stephen S. Campbell, Bruce J. Crawford and Corinne L. Reimer. A simple ethanol-based freeze-substitution technique for marine invertebrate embryos which allows retention of antigenicity 197

Timothy J. Holmes, Yi-Hwa Liu, Deepak Khosla and David A. Agard. Increased depth of field and stereo pairs of fluorescence micrographs via inverse filtering and maximum likelihood estimation 217

Eric Q. Chen, Chan F. Lam and Ammafi Periasamy. Effect of refraction on optical microscopic measurement of internal blood-vessel diameter and its correction 239

Flemming Ø. Mathiasen, Hans Jørgen G. Gundersen, Arvid B. Maunsbach and Elisabeth Skriver. Surface areas of basolateral membranes in renal distal tubules estimated by vertical sections 247

Short Technical Note

J. C. Olivo, E. Kahn, S. Halpern and P. Fragu. Image registration and distortion correction in ion microscopy 263

Book Reviews 273
